Raised beds that are stylish and quick to make

If you're looking to add an extra planting bed to your garden, check out this handy way to make a raised bed quickly. The M Brace ($165.00; www.artofthegarden.net) is a set of metal brackets that don't require any tools or additional hardware for you to create a functional yet funky raised bed. Just place brackets at the corners where you want your bed to be, and drop in a few boards to make the sides. You can make your raised bed any size you like, depending on the length of your boards. And the braces come in nine patterns, so you can personalize your veggie garden according to your style.
