

Handy Man Fix Home Repair

How to Fix, Build, Install, Customize, Repair, Restore, Renovate, and Demolish your House and Home

Raised Bed Gardening the Easy Way

April 28th, 2010 | Garden, Handy Man, Landscape, Product Reviews

When you see pictures of gardens in magazines and online, raised beds are common elements. If you'd like to have one or more of those in your garden, now you can do so without the work and the hassle of building one of those beds. A raised bed created with the M Brace is an inexpensive and easy way to get that home and garden magazines look for own backyard.

Whether you want a raised bed because you have very little space or you like to garden in them because it's better for many plants and easier to reach, the M Brace can help you build one in less than 15 minutes. You'll never have to follow complicated blueprints again in order to build a raised bed. With the M Brace you don't even need tools or fasteners like nails or screws. All you need are your set of 4 M Braces and enough two by fours to build the walls.

All you do is slide the wood into the braces and you're finished. There can't be a simpler way to build a great-looking raised bed in your garden. Not only is the bed ready for you to add dirt and plants, but it looks fantastic from the outside. These braces are made from recycled materials and have attractive die-cut designs, or you can buy a solid set. Either way, they look attractive and really give a finished and professional look to the bed.

You can choose from several different designs on your set of M Braces like squiggles, a sun design, dots, carrots or other abstracts. The carrot design is particularly nice for vegetable or herb gardening, but you can choose any design that you would like in your garden. (If you plan to vegetable garden in a raised bed made with an M Brace, be sure that the wood you purchase is safe for use in vegetable gardening, because some scrap wood like that used to make pallets and railroad ties can leak unhealthy chemicals into the soil.)

One of the great things about the M Brace is that you can have a 12 x 12 garden plot one year or for part of the season, and then decide you want a different size later. It's easy to simply remove the boards and move your plot or rearrange it. You can have several raised beds in your garden that are all squares, or you can build a rectangular raised bed in front of your house for border plants or shrubs. There's really no limit to what you can do with a raised bed that you've built with an M Brace system.

You can easily order your M Braces online. They make great gifts for gardeners, too. You could even use them to surprise someone by building them a quick garden bed. Whether it's for the beautiful look of a raised bed or how easy it is to garden without the need to get on the ground, many more people can enjoy raised bed gardening because it's so simple to create beds with the M Brace.