

Amazing Brace

If you've always wanted raised beds, but haven't had time to make them, be sure to check out the new M Brace from Art of the Garden. Requiring no tools and made of recycled steel, the M Brace is both green and easy to assemble. The inner brace allows boards to simply slide into place, while the outer brace can feature one of multiple designs. The length and width of the bed is up to you (up to 12 feet per side), and you can use the lumber of your choice—think old fence or barn boards as well as standard boards, as long as they aren't pressure-treated lumber. Both adjustable and portable, reconfiguring your beds is a snap; 830-662-2224; www.artofthegarden.net

CREATE A BUZZ

A coiled hose on the ground not only looks sloppy, it can pose a potential safety hazard as well. Hide your hose in style with the Beehive Hose Holder. This wonderfully detailed hose holder has a removable lid for hassle-free plant watering and a hole to easily connect the hose to the spigot. 800-320-9757; www.wisteria.com

When quality matters, plant Territorial Seed.

Vegetables • Flowers • Herbs
Plants • Garlic • Accessories
Request your FREE
2010 catalog now!

Territorial Seed Company

www.territorialseed.com
Phone: 800-426-8866 • Fax: 541-842-2614
P.O. Box 158 • Cottage Grove, OR 97224

Check No. 7 on page 75 or visit www.hobbyfarmhome.com/subscribe

The songbirds are serenading Mother Nature about summer's bounty and we're wanting to keep you up on the latest with the magazine. Check us out on Twitter by following HFHmag.

If the 140-character limit isn't enough to fill your Hobby Farm Home needs, set up an account on Facebook and become an HFH fan at www.facebook.com/hobbyfarmhome. You'll get new recipes, fun quizzes and other updates to our website.

twitter

f Find us on Facebook